

Smart Parking

A fantastic concept

A combination of market experience and technological competence, makes Hectronic the leader in the field of parking management. 50 years ago, the mechanical Kienzle parking meter set the standard for modern technology. This has been replaced by two models of ticket machines.

Nowadays Hectronic offers third generation parking management by means of integrated system solutions as well as modern communication and software products. Our concepts and products can be found on six continents and our efficient partners support customers worldwide with project management and service and system consultancy.
